This definitive record sets out the essential features and characteristics of the Cert Ed course. The information provided is accurate for students entering level 4 in the 2024-25 academic year.⁵

Course Summary

The Certificate in Education is a professional qualification for people teaching in the Education and Training Sector e.g. further education colleges, sixth form colleges, adult education, community learning and a wide range of other training and educational settings. As from 01 April 2012, teachers who qualify in the Education and Training Sector and go on to achieve QTLS status are eligible to teach in the school sector.

The course is designed to develop a range of skills and knowledge required of a professional teacher in the Education and Training Sector. The programme places a significant emphasis on students developing the appropriate skills and knowledge they require to meet the needs of the learner. The fundamental principles of practice are underpinned by reference to theoretical perspectives, thus encouraging students to effectively link theory to practice. This is expected of a professional who can engage with the identification and articulation of issues associated with the teaching in the sector.

Course Aims

The programme aims to develop the following academic skills in trainees:

1. To provide trainees with a wide range of intellectual resources, theoretical perspectives and academic disciplines to deepen their understanding of education within the context of their subject specialism and beyond.
2. To provide trainees with a broad and balanced knowledge and critical understanding of the principal features of education in a wide range of contexts to prepare them for future careers in a range of potential settings.
3. To encourage trainees to explore educational processes in a wide variety of contexts.
4. To develop trainee's skills in constructing and justifying a reasoned argument about educational issues in a competent and coherent manner
5. To promote a range of qualities in trainees including autonomy, initiative, critical thinking, innovation, creativity, and engagement with research-based practice.
6. To promote the wider personal development of each trainee relevant to their teaching and professional context. This may include developing competency in maths and English, instilling leadership and management skills, developing a better understanding of global and cultural issues and other features required of professional training.

Course Learning Outcomes

DEFINITIVE COURSE RECORD

On successful completion of the course, students will be awarded a Certificate in Education.

Course Delivery

The course is delivered at the University of Suffolk at East Coast College. Students studying full-time on Certificate in Education are likely to have approximately 240 contact hours. The contact hours will be a mix of lectures, seminars and practical activities and students will also be required to participate in 150 hours of work placement in their own subject. Students on the full-time programme will be supported to find a suitable teaching placement. Students will normally be expected to undertake 15 hours of independent study in an average week, but should be prepared for this to vary based on assignment deadlines and class exercises.

Course Assessment

A variety of assessments will be used on the course to enable students to experience and adapt to different assessment styles. The assessment methods used will be appropriate to assess each module's intended learning outcomes. Assessment on the course overall will be approximately 75% coursework (including essays, reports, presentations, group work, reflective learning journals and research projects), and 25% practical assessments. Both elements must be passed in order to pass the course.

Course Team

The academic staff delivering this course are drawn from a team that includes teaching specialists and current practitioners. All staff are qualified in their subjects with their own specialist knowledge to contribute. Details of the academic staff who deliver on the course can be found in the Course Handbook.
